Twin Towns 5; Berlin 2

Twin Towns hung up another victory at Berlin, N. H., on Monday in a game featuring ragged playing with hits in the minority. Chick Hayes of the Twin Towns held the Mountaineers a pair of singles and pitched professional baseball. Cahill boosted his batting average with a regulation three sacker and a smashing single.

Berlin's misplays were costly and aided the visitors in run-getting when Twin scores were roped in the sixth and seventh. The score:

Democrats Opened Campaign

Fulton J. Redman of Ellsworth, democratic candidate for United States Senator, opened the campaign for the local committee, Monday evening at Withers Park. Several hundred men, women and children were present. Albert A. Towne of Norway, democratic candidate for legislature for the State, president. Hon. B. G. McIntire of Norway scheduled to speak was detained by illness.

Mr. Redman spoke about thirty minutes directing his remarks principally against the Ku Klux Klan's activities in politics, and the disruption of good feeling prevailing between various creeds in our country. The speaker stated that several thousand conscientious men were Klansmen, but he personally was opposed to the organization for its injustice to the Catholics, the Jews, the aliens and colored race. Under Klan rule no individual but native born Protestants might hold political or judicial office, he stated. This doctrine is contrary to the peace of America and violates not only the Constitution, but is a rank injustice to a large group of loyal American citizens, he affirmed. All creeds and races fought side by side in the great war for America and its patriotic inheritance why dishonor them from forming the duties of real citizens he questioned. The speaker stated the Klan is a powerful organization and cannot be ignored.

A concert was given by the Norway

Paris band before the speaking and a selection closed the program.

Norway Without a Resident Agent

If the Grand Trunk officials carry out their plans, Norway will, at no late date, be without a resident station agent. Agent I. Routhier has received instructions to turn the business over to an auditor and report for work elsewhere. According to instructions, Agent George Doran of South Paris will have charge of affairs here.

From semi-official sources it is learned one other clerk will be sent here to assist Eugene Hamond. Tickets may be bought and baggage checked under the new arrangement, but telegraph business must be done through the station at St. Paris. So far as known, the change will not hit the freight. Raymond Shaw is handling affairs in the freight house and will remain.

Prominent members of the Norway

Board of Trade have been in consultation this week. It is understood at least one Grand Trunk official at Portland has been interviewed, but no satisfactory answer received.

It is understood Norway is not alone in this timing process as other stations on the line may take a cut in the working force.

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Norway evidence—doubly proven.

E. C. Libby, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do anything. My head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's at Stone's Drug Store and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint." (Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

THE DAY OF REST

Sunday is here at last
So let us not hesitate,
But hold to its promises fast
In union throughout our "dear old State."
Some seek it for pleasure,
Others for truth and for strength,
While lingering without measure
They go to the limit's length.
Forgetful of God's promise to aid;
Who do not stand by His book
As idlers they heed not His call,
While for temptation they look.
In His holy word they find
Keep sacred the Sabbath day,
These words sent down from heaven,
"Six days shalt thou labor," for pay.
Mind not what your neighbors do,
For him you cannot stand,
Each has a purpose on earth, too,
Always be willing to lend a helping hand.
—G. L. Y.

NO, YES

No, is a very small word,
Yet so great is its intention;
For correction most frequent 'tis heard,
In thoughts of our wayward notions.
Yes, one more better contains,
In meaning it's more pleasant to hear,
For the old and young it pertains
In memory to those that fear.
Say No; when your conscience tells you to,
Say Yes; when you think you ought;
In the House of many mansions, who,
If for the right you have fought.
—G. L. Y.

CAN YOU HELP IT?

Can you help it when the shadow of the night
begins to fall,
When the darkness comes around us, and we Can you help it when the morning breaks in splendor over all,
And the sunshine drives all shadows and the darkness from us all?
Can you help it when the friends you love, in anger go away?
And you miss their kindly greeting that has cheered you many a day,
Can you help it when in silence they then meet and pass you by,
And your heart is sad and lonely and you really don't know why?
Can you help it when the angel comes to call our loved ones home?
Where no night or darkness ever comes around the great white throne,
Where no more in pain and sickness, but in gladness they shall roam,
In the House of many mansions, when the Father calls them home.
—MRS. VIOLA HERRICK.

THE LABOR MONOPOLY AMENDMENT

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

A letter by A. F. Wolfe in last week's issue calls attention to some phases of the so called Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution of the U. S., which will come before the next Legislature for action. Mr. Wolfe calls attention to the fact, worthy of note, that so greedily were its authors to monopolize labor that they raised the limit to under 18 years of age and of course could not refer to children.

It is time that Mr. Wolfe's warning should be heeded, as members of the legislature are now being placed on record while running for this election.

I have shown the revolutionary and disloyal nature of the amendment in a special article devoted to that subject. I now wish to support the claim by Mr. Wolfe that it is the intention of at least a large body of its promoters, to have Congress provide a bureau of agents and inspectors whose duty will be to hunt out all persons under 18 years of age and exclude them from farm work, domestic science, seasonal occupations (such as canning factories) mills and factories.

When they have driven the 15, 16 and 17 year old girls and boys out of work, they will do nothing to support them and will make no provision for their amusement, employment, support or education.

It is certainly time to sound the alarm before election, because the lobby for the amendment is strong and of long standing and there is no organized effort against it.

Now is the time to educate your candidates for the legislature, for when the legislature convenes, they will be besieged by sentimental lobbyists who do not know that this is an attempt to monopolize labor performed by persons under 18 years of age.

The young people themselves should become interested in this matter, for where could they earn a cent of money with which to get an education away from home or otherwise better their conditions, with a federal inspector watching the sources for their earnings.

Ask the advocates of this amendment to point out one locality where a child labor evil exists in this State, or any other State. None exists more than the misarranging of justice in any other sociological condition.

This so called National Child Labor Movement, has been caused by the new cotton mills of the South competing with New England cotton mills, fostered by the present ridiculous situation by the new electorate. So well is it organized for political effect that when it pulls the string politicians jump.

Cuts Better Lasts Longer

You will appreciate the John Deere Mower the moment you see it in action. You will notice particularly its simplicity, its great cutting power and the ease with which it is handled. These advantages, combined with the extra years of service it gives, makes the John Deere a mighty profitable mower investment.

JOHN DEERE MOWER The Mower with the Balanced Gears

The driving gears on the John Deere are balanced—one set offsets the thrust of the other set. This eliminates side wear and strain. This mower transmits maximum power to the high grade carefully-fitted knife—that's why the John Deere does a better job of cutting and pulls lighter.

Another feature—if after years of use, lag develops in the cutter bar, this can be taken out—the bar is aligned by a simple eccentric adjustment. The John Deere handles easily. The bar can be raised high with the foot lever to pass over ordinary obstructions. With the hand lever an extremely high lift can be secured quickly and easily.

It's no job to keep the John Deere in good running order. All parts are easily replaced; adjustments easily made—its simplicity is a real feature.

Be sure to see this mower before you buy.
It's the best mower we have ever seen.

"This lovely bud so young, so fair,
Called hence by earthly doom,
Just came to show how sweet a flower
In paradise would bloom.
Ere sin could harm or sorrow fade,
Death came with friendly care,
The opening bud to Heaven conveyed
And bade it blossom there."

Electric Cookery is Better Cookery

My Chef

"There, girls, is the Chef you have accused me of hiding in my kitchen and making those wonderful cakes.

"I really don't blame you for thinking I had a Chef because I never had such wonderful results in cooking as I have since I bought my electric range.

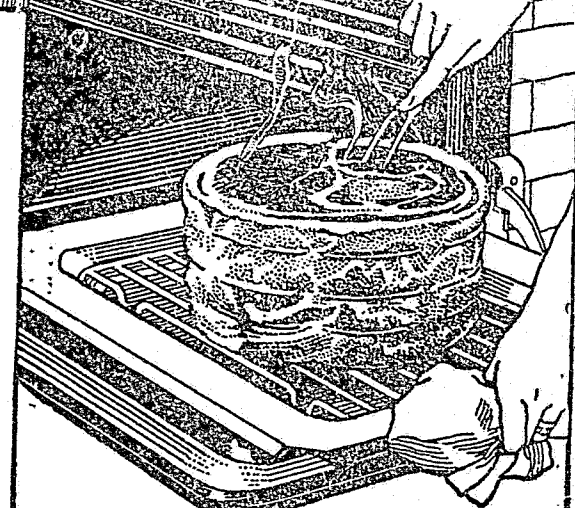

"I just love to cook with it. The heat is so steady and even that you can't help having everything cook just as you want it. I never have to watch things in the oven to see that they don't burn or undercook and I never have to baste roasts.

"Of course my kitchen is spotless, with no smoke or soot to soil my pots and pans or walls and window curtains, it isn't to be wondered at is it?

"I know I'm a lucky girl, Grace, but do you realize that my electric range makes a big saving in cooking expenses? With our special rates for cooking electrically, Jim, has figured it out to be 1-3 cheaper than any other method."

STORY OF BY-GONE DAYS

Twenty-Six Years Ago

The Andrews party caught 749 trout at Four Ponds, fish averaged 1-4 pound each. They brought home 200 trout, or 25 apiece as the law allows.

Arthur Hubbard and Clarence B. Pike made a bicycle run from Fryeburg via Bridgton to Norway in 3 hours and 7 minutes including two stops.

Osman Waver Brown of the New York Journal has been in town celebrating his 26th birthday.

Latest diversion is scattering burdock burrs along the sidewalk that the lady in passing may get them entangled in her skirts.

Sig Sawtelle's Circus of the one-riding overland variety entertained. They arrived from Mechanic Falls and continued to Bridgton. Mule power hauled the wagons.

Dr. H. L. Bartlett has bought the Dr. Danforth brick house, corner of Main and Danforth streets.

Dennis Pike harvested and marketed 100 bushels of strawberries this season.

Harry Lane has sold his cottage "Tall-y-ho," furniture and boat to Frank H. Noyes. The cottage has been leased to Rev. C. R. Tenney of Massachusetts for this month.

The extension of the Bridgton & Saco River R. R. was opened to Harrison, Aug. 3, and everybody in that district celebrated. Free rides and general rejoicing made a day long to be remembered. Distance from Harrison to Bridgton Jct. is 21 1-2 miles.

SUMMER BUSINESS

Contrary to impression frequently expressed recently that Maine is not receiving a normal amount of summer business and that vacation visitors are fewer than during several summers past, officials of the State of Maine Board of Publicity Bureau have found in a canvass of resort hotels, camps and boarding houses, that every such institution of any consequence within a radius of 75 miles of Portland is taxed to capacity.

Following the fire at Chebeague Island, when a large number of guests were driven from Hill Crest Hotel, Secretary Harvie B. Coe of the Publicity Bureau and his co-workers set at work, seeking accommodations at various beach and inland resort hotels and camps in western and central Maine for some of those who were forced from Great Chebeague, as well as for transients inquiring at the Bureau from day to day for rooms at nearby resort hostels. The reply in virtually every case where telephone communication was established, was that the hotel, boarding house or camp, as the case might be, was full and had no extra rooms whatever.

Inasmuch as the influx of visitors is steadily continuing and accommodations are drained in this part of the State, so far as the Bureau has been able to learn by dozens of inquiries, Secretary Coe has suggested that proprietors and managers of summer hotels, camps and other institutions who have spare rooms or camps get in communication with the Publicity Bureau of Portland, advising him of their available space and their rates. This would apply equally to points in central Maine or along the coast.

In their inquiries of this week, seeking accommodations, officials of the Bureau reached many hotels and camps at Kennebunk, Kennebunkport, Kennebunk Beach, York Beach, Sebago, Bridgton, Prout's Neck, Oakland, Belgrade and elsewhere, but to no avail.

Likewise it was found that all the listed automobile community camps were taxed to capacity, and that no available space for campers obtained in these places.

PENNESSEEWASSEE

(By Morrill N. Packard)

Charming lake in Dirigo
Set in mountains bending low,
Girt by cove and headland shores,
Decked with isles the heart adores.

Born anew each spring's return
Out of winter's ice and snow
Into laughing waters play
Kissed by sun and moonlight ray.

Fed by mountain brooks in flow
Singing, dancing as they go
Greeting songs to breaking dawn
Vespers low when day has gone.

Full of moods by weather wrought
Changing scenes with beauty fraught
Wonder views by nature's art
Defied done to music part.

Early morn, or evening calm
Or at midday's tranquil charm,
Seen in mirror shoals and coves
Graceful isles and headland groves.

Dressed in varied shades of green
Radiant with sunlight sheen,
Tinted through with azure blue
Clear as crystal drops of dew.

Only vexed by diving frog,
Hungry pike in cove or bog,
Ardent anglers best or hook,
Purling face of quiet nook.

Restless angry with the wind
Running wild in white caps lined,
Catching scowls from heavens torn
Dark reflecting tempest's scorn.

Blasting wild when thunder roars
Dashing mad on leashing shores,
Surging back to restful form
When the rainbow chases storm.

Kissed by sun's after glow,
Watching stars in numbing grow,
Fretful lighting lamps ashore,
Fleeting clouds go slowly o'er.

Rising moon with rounded rim
Keeping vigil lights in trim;
Listening to whippoorwill
Chilling note in woodlands still.

Running brooks in low refrain,
Whisper pines in softest strain,
Drover warblers laying shore;
Rest, enraptured never more.

Through the summer's changeless round
Countless ways the splendors found
In the passion depths of heart
By a gorgeous scheme of art.

'Till exhausted nature yields
When the frosts disrobe the shields
Then through crystal ice and snow
Into winter bonnets to go.

Picturesque in beauty's quest
Charming that pass enduring test
Lovely like in Dirigo
Watched by mountains bending low.

Baltimore, Maryland, July, 1924.

Music Week and Old Home Day
Music Week was observed from August 3rd to 9th, ending on Saturday with Old Home Day.

Each evening during the week Robert Lawrence of Washington, D. C., contributed community singing on the village common.

Camps Kineo, Ha-wa-ya and Newfound assisted with special singing and instrumental music, both in chorus and solo work. Among the other soloists were Evelyn Wright of South Paris, Marion Haskell of Norway, violinist; Mrs. Ruth Cummings of Norway, accompanist; Mrs. Laura Long Richardson of Bridgton, Arnold Merrill of Harrison, Mrs. Alice Smith Denison, Harrison, and Ethel Whitney, cornetist.

On Saturday a fine parade in the morning with St. Cecilia Boys' Band of Lewiston was enjoyed by a large crowd. This band furnished excellent music throughout the day. On the village common were several tents selling food, drinks and ice cream and baby dolls in blankets. A fine quilt was given away by tickets to the person with the lucky number, who was O. D. Little. A crocheted bed spread was won by Mrs. Wilbur Nason. Water sports and ball games drew a large crowd, while the log driving by David Green, George Skilling and Jack St. John was a novelty greatly enjoyed. In the evening there were moving pictures in the Bungalow Playhouse, a barn dance at the Bristol Studio, and the Trumbull Players at the Grange Hall in the play "In Love With Love."

FOREMOST FIGURE IN AMERICAN MUSIC COMES TO CHAUTAUQUA

An All Star Company and an Arabian Night's Entertainment. Give Five Shows in One

In all parts of the country the name of Charles D. Isaacson has become synonymous with musical and art development. He has been termed "The Democrat of Aristocratic Art" for his work as a writer and lecturer. He has lectured more than three thousand times in the last ten years to audiences aggregating well over six million people, in institutions ranging from Harvard, the Metropolitan Opera House, American Museum of Natural History, San Francisco Board of Aldermen, through all of the important colleges and organizations, principally in New York City. In that metropolis alone his audiences have aggregated more than five million people, but he has toured practically every state of the Union and has written many books and hundreds of articles for the magazines, as well as daily articles for the New York press.

In the afternoon Mr. Isaacson's lecture on "The Real Estate Value of Fine Music" shows what after all makes a community the sort of place one wants to live in and how real estate values are affected by something more than the purely commercial advantages or disadvantages. Then he goes on to break down the tradition that in order to understand music and fine arts one must have been specially trained for them. He gives the secret of appreciating music in a unique offering called "Moods and Emotions in Music" and follows this with a group of his poems which have been set to music by more than fifteen of the leading American composers. Some of these he will read, some will be sung by his assisting artists.

The evening's offering is the "Arabian Night's Entertainment" as a prelude and three distinct acts. The first, "A Glimpse Into the Heart of Franz Schubert," the second, "A Little Journey to Russia," and the third, the complete grand opera "Aida" reduced to a brief presentation of the immortal melodies.

In the first act, Mr. Isaacson will act the part of Franz Schubert—the greatest of all song-writers and in the midst of the dramatic bit, behind soft gauzes, as if in a dream, will appear the ladies and gentlemen of Schubert's time in their hoopskirts and wigs and silk hats. A dancer will play the part of Franz Schubert's muse who never forsakes him and is his only love.

The following account is taken from the Republican-Register, Galesburg, Ill. Miss Allen, the heroine, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Allen and a few years ago, with her parents, spent some time at Lake Pennesseewassee.

"Ester Allen, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Pliny Allen, Galesburg, was the real heroine of Bay View summer resort near Potosky, Mich., yesterday when she swam forty rods and saved the life of a Detroit boy, who was sinking. "Robert Munroe, the young man, had been swimming considerable time at a distance from the beach, when campers seized him. Miss Allen had seen the young man out swimming and happened to notice he was going under and making efforts to call for help.

"Without hesitation Miss Allen grabbed a life buoy and swam out on an eighth of a mile, dove, brought him up, and towed him ashore, amid the cheers of hundreds of persons who were at the resort.

"Miss Allen will be a Junior at Lombard college of Galesburg, this coming fall term. Both in high school and in college she has earned honors through her swimming and has been a member of a number of swimming teams.

"A year ago this summer Miss Allen was assistant swimming instructor at Galesburg high school gymnasium. She is well known among college and high school students in Galesburg, because of her ability as a swimmer.

"She and four other Lombard co-eds left Galesburg June 11, and expect to return in October for the college opening. All five students are waiting on tables at the Bay View resort.

"Miss Allen took the Red Cross swimming exercises given at the high school pool under the direction of Roy S. Langdon. She passed tests in swimming and in artificial respiration methods in resuscitating drowning persons to consciousness."

A family party consisting of Mrs. Ellen Nickols and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hayward of South Windham, Mr. and Mrs. George Cook and daughter, Catherine, of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. George Huff and two children of Portland, Mrs. Evis Cook and Mrs. Avis Huff of Norway, enjoyed a picnic at Gibson's Grove, Sunday.

The Twin Town Nature Club is to enjoy an outing Friday night and Saturday, Aug. 29 and 30, at Camp Oxford, Whitney Pond, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carter of the camp. The camps are delightfully situated on the lakeshore. Some of the members have visited the place on a former outing early in the summer. It is hoped a goodly number will attend the August gathering.

Guy Gros. Minstrels appeared before a fairly good sized audience at Norway Opera House Tuesday evening. Eighteen members of the company provided a good brand of minstrel stuff with plenty of dancing and comedy. A female impersonator and a contortionist were features of the olio.

Dr. W. L. Hasty has purchased the former Dr. F. N. Barker home, corner of Denforth and Main streets, of Mrs. Gertrude Barker and will move from the Dr. H. L. Bartlett house nearby, now owned by George Hall. Mrs. Barker will move to the house next door, into the upstairs tenement now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wajers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fitch and two daughters, Ellen and Lucile, were week end guests at Mrs. Fannie Hunt's.

BASEBALL

Twin Towns 6; Athletics 2
"Lefty" Beck and his team mates riddled the Lewiston Athletics, Saturday, and drove away the jinx which has kept the Athletics practically immune from anything Twin Towns could bring on. The invincible "Buck" Gaudette batted from the box in the second inning of the game and led with a carry of them across easily. Lewiston as hitters were on vacation, at least they were not able to land on the stuff "Lefty" handed out. Prior, Masterman and Brisk slammed into the two sack class but other sluggers of might captured a few scattered singles of the non-run making variety. Taken altogether the visitors as they worked in this game were outclassed.

The Twins landed on "Buck" Gaudette with mighty wallops and found his delivery real honey. This condition was passed on to the team and the whole outfit wobbled until Adams took charge of the box affairs. Gaudette touched for five hits in his two sessions while Adams escaped with six bingles in seven innings.

Robinson again came into the line light by stealing home while the visitors were in a wordy discussion. This stunt is one of his pastimes.

The visitors outfielders were a busy lot and earned the days salary. Several long winded sky scrapers were handled by the keen work of "Pat" French and Sauvage.

The largest crowd for the season with $53 paid admissions recorded. Lewiston and Auburn made up probably one-third of the crowd and the team had strong support when bright spots appeared.

DEVELOPING RADIO CONVENIENCES

In commenting on the rapid development of radio and prospective improvements for benefit of radio users, David Arnold, Vice-President-General Manager, of the Radio Corporation of America, says that one of the next greatest conveniences that will be given the public is a "Current Supply Device" operated from the regular house lighting circuit. This will eliminate the trouble of storage and dry batteries where ordinary lighting service is available. Mr. Sarnoff says the "Current Supply Device" would make the installation and use of the radio receiver as simple a convenience as the electric lamp or vacuum cleaner, for it would merely be necessary to plug the usual form of extension cord into a wall socket to start operation of the radio set.

No change in present day receivers would be called for. Thus the use of radio is being constantly made more convenient for the public.

BEN, THE HERMIT

By Fred M. Davis

Written for Norway Advertiser
Anyone who knows anything at all about Hick's Pond at Greenwood, Maine, knows that it is and always has been a place where fish thrive in abundance, and I was always as sure of getting a string of fish there as I am sure that stars shine overhead.

It so happened one summer a few years ago that I stopped for a week at Camp Sunset with my family.

I went more to revert to scenes of childhood and to traverse the hills and mountains once more that no one loves more than myself. To review olden days where, when a boy, I lived a few years with an uncle in Greenwood and knew the favorite haunts of his fish anywhere, from Rocky Point to the mouth of the Sanborn River, and fired away many pounds of good powder, that laid low many a sleeping reptile that basked in the sun while coiled on logs that were scattered along the shore.

Although unaided of it at the time, early life in the mountains and days spent on a farm, are to any boy an advantage and never a thought entered my head that I should ever grasp a pen to write of any act or deed enacted there.

But today, things are different, far different, and during my few days' stay I had frequently gazed by the home of a long and old individual, a man who has seen something of the outside world, fought in wars, and for reasons of his own, built the humble cot to pass the remainder of his years by himself, alone, unmolested. On invitation, he agreed to visit our quarters some day, to "fish a while and stop for dinner."

One morning while returning with a back load of wood, I noticed a boat that contained a dark object, and taking a second look, sure enough, there he was, sitting there in silence near our camp, the boat drifting within the shadow of the shore. I ventured to speak in low tones, "Hello Ben, is that you?"

"Yes, here I am."

"This is the day we 'go git 'em.' I said, and reminded him that it was Friday and the sign was right. I knew for I had looked it up in the mystic oracle.

Ben paddled along a little farther, until the pebbles grated beneath the keel, and I hurried to get ready while he stood there, patiently waiting on the shore.

Heavy clouds drifted in that morning, and after a good catch, all hands enjoyed a good fish dinner, while a grizzling rain pattered on the roof. Ben spoke of the big one that was hidden in the grass near the piazza, neatly covered with newspapers and laid there among the rest.

We finished our meal and had just got seated on the piazza when the term "drone" came to my mind. I saw that it was none other than Dr. I. P. Symonds, as good a doctor as ever poured medicine down a mustang's gullet, and Will McKay, both from the north part of "Norway town."

"What about a boat?" they said, as both leaped out over the wheel and advanced towards us slowly.

"We have been out all morning," I said, "and I guess we can fix you up all right." They took a few steps along the shore to view the sturdy craft as the rain came down in torrents. While waiting for it to hold up a little, they came forward on invitation and took seats with the rest.

A nod and a wink followed a remark from Ben that his boat lay there under the bank and they could take it if they so desired.

"Did you get any fish this morning?" the doctor asked earnestly. "Yes, we got a good catch." But the doctor smiled with sort of a far-away look on his face, and remarked that he guessed that all the fish we got was that perch that lay there in the bottom of the boat.

"Yes, I was kept busy relieving my hook of fine specimens and as for Ben, he was busy keeping the boat steady or steering clear of some snag, but as a whole, I found him able to deal out great service with the paddle."

With one step taken, I raised the newspaper while the doctor gazed on this unusual sight with eyes that bulged out like baldwin apples, while he murmured, "Is it a fact that fish like that swim in these waters?"

A general roar of laughter rang out from all hands that could be heard anywhere from Ball Ledge to Hecce Hussey's cider mill, while I stood there with the big fish dangling in the air, with my fingers protruding from its mouth where two or three rows of harpoons with points like cambric needles, pricked my fingers severely.

"But tell me," the doctor said, "where did you land that grandfather of the fish family?"

"Well, sir, that pike was taken near Rocky Point, my partner here will vouch for that."

Ben settled back in his chair, stroked the hedge on his chin, while he grinned from ear to ear, and went on to tell that during the struggle, he thought sure that the boat was going to be swamped, and we should both have to swim ashore. I could not help liking him, he was a gentleman indeed, he was pleasant, good and kind, and no vile words flow from his tongue.

I don't remember just how much the fish weighed, but the head, after being salted, and the jaws propped open, hung in my wood shed a number of weeks on exhibition.

We did not get a boat load—No, but we got enough for a true fish story. It was the day that we were to vacate and return to our home in Norway, and late that afternoon, our car came and we were hurried away down the valley with Frank Starbird at the wheel, who was alive then, and lived too, at Norway. I have been asked many times since by the doctor to visit his home and he agreed that we would go fishing without delay, avowing his readiness to "swing the paddle and compete with Ben, the hermit."

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Game is sending special notices to licensed fur farmers and would-be fur farmers relating to the law applying to the importation of wild birds and wild animals, in view of the fact that many of these licenses secure their stock outside the state. The law applying to such shipments is as follows:

Unlawful to import wild birds or animals, or parts thereof, without permit.

"Section 75 of the inland fish and game laws. Whoever introduces or imports any wild bird or wild animal, or dead body or part thereof, of any kind or species into the state, or whoever receives or has in possession such wild bird or wild animal, or dead body or part thereof, so introduced or imported, without written permission from the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game, shall forfeit not less than $50 nor more than $100 and costs for each offense.

Boston, died, August 6, in the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital. He was born in Bethel, July 22, 1850, and went to Lowell with his father's family while a very young man. In 1878 he went West and spent many active years in the mining fields of Montana, Idaho and Western Canada, in the capacity of millwright and builder of concentrating plants. He was also very interested in municipal and political life, and served in the fifth State Legislature of Montana in 1894.

He returned to New England about 1907, since which time he had made his home in Dorchester, though continuing to make frequent trips to the West. For the past two years he has been in failing health and on June 26 he fell in his home injuring his hip and elbow in consequence of which he died.

of these fraternities he was very fond.

REV. J. M. ARTERS ELECTED

New Head of State Sunday School Association

The committee having in charge the selection of a successor to Rev. E. H. Brewster as general secretary of the Maine State Sunday School Association for Religious Education, today announce the election of Rev. John M. Arters of South Portland, district superintendent of Methodist churches, who begins his services immediately. For a few months Mr. Arters will not give full time to the work, owing to other obligations which he must discharge but arrangements are being made so that no part of the State-wide program need suffer for any lack of attention.

For at least 12 years Mr. Arters has been intimately connected with the denominational Sunday School work in the State, having served for the most part of this period on the executive committee and board of trustees. For three years he was president of the State association and chairman of the executive committee. He has been very closely related to the entire State program, having served on important committees from time to time.

As soon as certain duties as district superintendent of the Methodist churches can be discharged or arranged for, Mr. Arters will give the work full time and attention. In the meantime the general program of work will be energetically promoted and any requests for aid or information will be given careful attention.

OXFORD COUNTY FARM BUREAU

Three potato club boys in Bethel, Ronald Keady, Arthur Barker and Albert Brown have the potato plots planted from seed that grew in E. A. Barker's seed plot last year, and tested by the crops specialist, A. K. Gardner and former County Agent Lovejoy.

During the potato demonstrations in the county numbering 21, many fine plots were found practically free from disease. The plots were planted in the tuber unit way, which made the demonstration more striking when picking out disease.

Myron E. Watson, forestry specialist, is to be in Oxford County Sept. 16, 17, 18, and 19 to conduct timber estimating demonstrations. Twenty-five per cent of those attending the timber estimating demonstration at Brownfield purchased cruising sticks.
